“ The last 2-3 months I have had the opportunity to take Brad to work (9:30pm) and pick him up when he got off (2:00 am). I will never forget the night I picked him up and he asked if I could stop at his mailbox so he could check for any mail. When we pulled up to his mailbox we noticed in the back ground something sitting atop the neighbors fence, which was around 30 -40 ft away. To our surprise, which neither of us have ever been that close to one before, it turned its head all the way around and stared at us with its big eyes. We couldn't believe that we were having a staring contest with an owl. Brad grabbed his phone and snapped a picture and the owl then flew away. Brad and I sat there stunned at what we had just seen. This is one of many great memories of Brad.
