“ I cannot say enough about Brother Shaner, and what an amazing seminary teacher he was. He exuded patience and kindness, had an incredible gift for teaching, and an incredibly sharp wit. I remember many of his lessons to this day. I did not begin to comprehend the sacrifices of time and energy he made, to teach a classroom of teenagers before sunrise, five days a week, until I was a parent of teenagers. He is truly a saint.

“ There were four men riding in a car, George was riding shotgun up front. I was in the back seat behind George. He said, "Murie, is your seatbelt fastened?" "I would not care to be your airbag. ”
