“ Blogging brought Nancy and I together, with a mutual love of nature. I will miss our chats, both on and off our respective blogs. I wish I had gotten to know her long before I did. Rest in peace my friend. - Linda Schaub

“ I loved Nancy's writings and her wise and kind advice. She was a lovely and treasured friend although we lived thousands of miles apart. We connected on our blogs and became close, sharing the ups and downs of our lives with each other. I will miss her very much!

“ Nancy has been such a great addition to our family for the last several years. Hardheaded, smart, feisty, loving and generous. She will be missed beyond measure. Every time I will see the color purple, culinary shows, crazy sayings, or cats amongst many other things, she will forever be my first thought. She has been such a trooper over the last few years throughout her illnesses. Dr's and staff had counted her out more times than not, but she would show them what resilience was. She was a friend but was known to us as Aunt Nancy. Rest easy Nancy, love you.
