“ My dear dear Granny, Lord how i miss you already, it doesnt feel as if this should be real, its like a dream, but i know its reality. I may have lost my granny, my best friend, my hero, but heaven had gained a very very strong woman and i along with james and the rest of the family has gained a new guardian angel. I know you are watching over us and keeping us safe. You are always in my heart and in my thoughts. Until we meet again granny, walk among those yellow roses hand in hand with your love and keep us safe. I love love you, now we dont have to talk about escaping those nasty hospitals anymore.....
