“ I can tell stories Bob shared with me when I was a youngster. My favorite is when the prize rooster of his mother 's would not stop chasing him, when he was a child. He hit the rooster upside the head with stick killing the bird? After telling his mom she said we just as well have him for dinner. She boiled water and submergered the rooster and he was not dead at all. Bob said he went squack, squack, flapping his wings on his way back to to chicken house.....Bob you just didn't hit it hard enough.

You were special friend.....Dick
